A satellite map of Thailand showing its geographical features, including the Andaman Sea to the west and the Gulf of Thailand to the east. The map displays various islands and coastal regions. A yellow outline highlights a specific area on the western coast, near the border with Myanmar. This highlighted area is labeled 'Ko Phuket'. Several small airplane icons are visible on the map, indicating flight paths or destinations. The land is shown in shades of green and brown, while the water is a deep blue.
